

House Resolution No. 426

Whereas, the members of the Missouri House of Representatives recognize our roll in promoting the education of young minds both through the traditional classroom setting and through non-traditional educational techniques outside of the classroom; and

Whereas, the members of this legislative body further recognize our roll in promoting international cooperation, world peace and security, and awareness of the diversity of challenges facing peacefully co-existing nations; and

Whereas, the members of the Missouri House of Representatives appreciate the long and grand contributions of Midwest Model United Nations in raising awareness of issues of international urgency through its annual United Nations simulations held in St. Louis, Missouri, in February of each year; and

Whereas, Midwest Model United Nations educates hundreds of college students each year from all across the United States reaching out to many thousand young minds through this practical venture in education over the last five decades; and

Whereas, Ms. Margaret Brown of Madison, Wisconsin, has made selfless contributions to the success of Midwest Model United Nations having served on the conference Steering Committee for the past three years and having served at the helm of this fine organization as its Secretary General for the past two years; and

Whereas, without the prolific contributions of Margaret Brown, the success of this valuable educational experience would have been dramatically diminished:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the members of the Missouri House of Representatives, Ninety-third General Assembly, join unanimously in acknowledging the long and grand tradition of Midwest Model United Nations in educating college students from across this great nation and in commending Secretary General Margaret Brown for the successful execution of the 2004 and 2005 conferences of the Midwest Model United Nations; and

Be it further resolved that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copy of this resolution in recognition of Midwest Model United Nations of St. Louis, Missouri, and Ms. Margaret Brown of Madison, Wisconsin.
